A Profound Change of Perception

A Spiritual Awakening at its Best

By Rick R.

Years before I came to Alcoholics Anonymous I was aware that there was something dreadfully wrong with me but not one person ever suggested that I might be an alcoholic or that I should try A.A. Perhaps that was due to the denial of the people around me that drank like I did. Suggesting that I had a problem with alcohol would mean outing themselves and others. Looking back on it now, I feel fortunate that I survived those last few years of failed attempts at life and when I ran out of options I came to A.A. sincerely looking for answers. The denial within me was gone. My mind was open and for the first time in my life I was desperate and I was listening. At my first A.A. meeting I was moved by what I heard. It was different than anything I had experienced before. The people were being honest and candid about things that only brought shame and guilt to me in the past. I felt safe for the first time in my life and could discuss those things openly, that had been taboo up until then. Prior to that, everything in my life was a façade. At that moment On October 15, 1969, my perception of the world had changed and I have not wanted a drink since. Call it a Spiritual Awakening if you like, and it was for me, but it came in the form of a Profound Change in Perception. In appendices 2, in the Big Book, it describes a man who had “undergone a profound alteration in his reaction to life”. I began to question all of the decisions I had made in the past, and how the residue of those decisions had tarnished and eroded any chance of a successful, happy life. I became aware that the values system that I had learned as a child, at church and at the Boy Scout meetings, etc. was lost in the dust, and was replaced with guilt and shame. I was in trouble when I violated my own value system. I now realize that, I wasn't a bad kid but I was a kid that wasn't strong enough to do the things I knew to be right. The more I broke the rules, the easier it became and moral standards were meaningless. Soon drinking was the only thing that eases my conscience. When that quit working for me, I found myself at the door of Alcoholics Anonymous. Once I had that change of perception I knew what to do. It may be as simple as “trying to stop doing the things that I regret” but the key to it all is “Being honest with myself”, and never going back to my old way of thinking. I said that I was fortunate to have survived those last few years of drinking and that I came to A.A. looking for answers. Being desperate enough to ask for help was the most important part of that experience. I don't believe that anyone could have convinced me to stop drinking against my will. I may have stayed dry long enough to get the heat off, but I doubt that I would have sincerely surrendered to the degree necessary to have that change of perception and therefore no spiritual awakening. Getting off in the right direction from the start was very important to any success I've had in A.A. I know that I only live once and I don't want to waste one moment of the precious life God gave me. Today, as I continue to practice the all of the things I've learned in A.A. it has resulted in a peace of mind that was unimaginable when I first walked through the doors of alcoholics anonymous and, for that, I am extremely grateful.

Tradition Eight

"Alcoholics Anonymous should remain forever non-professional, but our service centers May employ special workers."

Remember this is just my opinion and in no way reflects Alcoholics Anonymous as a whole.

The 12 and 12 tells us that Alcoholics Anonymous has discovered that at the point of professionalism, money and spirituality do not mix. Remaining non-professional will always keep our singleness of purpose to carry the message to the alcoholic that still suffers. Once we accept any type of compensation for 12 step work the idea of God and spirituality has been tossed out the door and in its place, for-profit Tv evangelists who make money off suffering will be our new claim to fame. Also AA shall never make the professional claim that it knows how to help those who still suffer from anything other than alcoholism. Remember that first time you got the keys to the front door, young in sobriety. You are there an hour before the meeting brewing up coffee, setting up chairs getting the literature out, that is what we leave to the individual clubs and groups to take care of. However if we try this at the Intergroup, Area, or World Services level absolutely nothing would get done. We need professionalism in AA to handle things like: Shipping 12 tons of books, paying bills, contracts, lawsuits, communication and to make sure that the name alcoholic Anonymous is not dragged through public controversy. If we did not have paid professionals to take care of some of those actions Alcoholics Anonymous would crumble on the shoulders of the volunteers, it's way too much of a burden for volunteers to handle on a daily basis, they would throw their arms up and go I'm tired of this why doesn't somebody else step in. The Professionals in AA do not get paid to carry the 12 steps they get paid to make the 12 Steps possible through their actions that keep the lights on.

Question to ask yourself.

Do I sometimes try to get some reward – even if not money – for my personal AA efforts?

Doug Mc

Tradition Eight Checklist

Alcoholics Anonymous should remain forever nonprofessional, but our services centers may employ special workers.

1. Is my own behavior accurately described by the Traditions? If not, what needs changing?
2. When I chafe about a particular Tradition, do I realize how it affects others?
3. Do I sometimes try to get some reward-even if not money- for my personal AA efforts?
4. Do I try to sound in AA like an expert on alcoholism? On recovery? On medicine? On sociology? On AA itself? On psychology? On spiritual matters? Or, heaven help me, even on humility?
5. Do I make an effort to understand what AA employees do? What workers in other alcoholism agencies do? Can I distinguish clearly among them?
6. In my own life, have I any experiences which illustrate the wisdom of this Tradition?
7. Have a paid enough attention to the book Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions? To the pamphlet AA Tradition-How It Developed?

Concept 8

The Trustees of the General Service Board act in two primary capacities: (a) With respect to the larger matters of over-all policy and finance, they are the principal planners and administrators. They and their primary committees directly manage these affairs. (b) But with respect to our separately incorporated and constantly active services, the relation of the Trustees is mainly that of full stock ownership and of custodial oversight which they exercise through their ability to elect all directors of these entities.

Concept 8 addresses the potential dangers of too few people taking on too many tasks. Bill W. warned against “too much concentration of money and authority,” based on early AA experiences.

The General Service Board is not directly involved in the daily operations of the General Service Office or AA publications. Instead, those tasks are delegated to others, such as the office manager. This allows the Board to focus on larger questions of policy, finance, group relations and leadership.

Concept Eight Checklist

The trustees are the principle planners and administrators of overall policy and finance. They have custodial oversight of the separately incorporated and constantly active services, exercising this through their ability to elect all the directors of these entities.

- Do we understand the relationship between the two corporate service entities (A.A. World Service, Inc., the A.A. Grapevine) and the General Service Board?
- How can the business term “custodial oversight” apply to the trustees’ relationship to the two corporate entities?
- Does my home group subscribe to the G.S.O.’s bimonthly newsletter Box 4-5-9? A.A. Grapevine? Do I?

“What’s In A Name”

What’s in a name? Plenty it seems. At least it has meant a great deal to me in my sobriety.

The first significant lesson about names was taught to me by my sponsor James in 1986. James shared many ideas and experiences about sobriety and our responsibilities in Alcoholics Anonymous with me early on. He told me of being identified by full name in the local newspapers in his youth for less than meritorious behaviors. I too had found myself the subject in the local newspaper so I identified with the lesson. He explained that as a sober membered AA he needed no notoriety for behaving now the way he should have earlier in his life. He told me how harmful to AA it would be for him, me or anyone else to become well known to the general public as a sober member of AA. The danger being that any misstep or slip would be very negative for the fellowship. Heroes or villains have no place in AA according to James and it turns out according to the Twelve Traditions.

James’ next lesson about names was about identifying in meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous. He told me to use my full name. He explained how there are hundreds of Jims in AA and if a newcomer were trying to find me it would be nearly impossible. That could mean the difference in someone’s sobriety. After all it’s identifying with another member’s message is where recovery begins. In those days we used the phone book to find people. You needed a last name to search for someone, very similar to searches made on the social medias of today.

Next came not so much a lesson but an experience. Within my first nine months of sobriety I was introduced to Art L. and Betti S. Two names of the many that helped me in the beginning. I was put in touch with them because they had just returned home from a job assignment in Europe and needed help moving household items. Here was Art, tall, handsome with a big smile with an engaging personality. Betti was beautiful and smart with that certain je ne sais quoi. They were people of means, long time sober and stylish. I was not accustomed to people of this sort, they were classy. What’s in a name you ask? Well I will never forget their names, Art and Betti. One reason is they never forgot my name. They would say hello to me at Alcoholics Anonymous meetings like I was somebody, like I had value. The way they treated me and always called me by name did me immeasurable good in my early sobriety.

That's what's in a name.
